

Think of the FANBOYS as the filling in a sandwich. You could have two short sentences (like plain slices of bread, which are fine by themselves), but once you add a FANBOY filling the bread becomes a wonderful sandwich!

Many years ago toys were made of wood and fabric.

Now many toys are made of plastic.

Get rid of the full stop and change the capital letter.

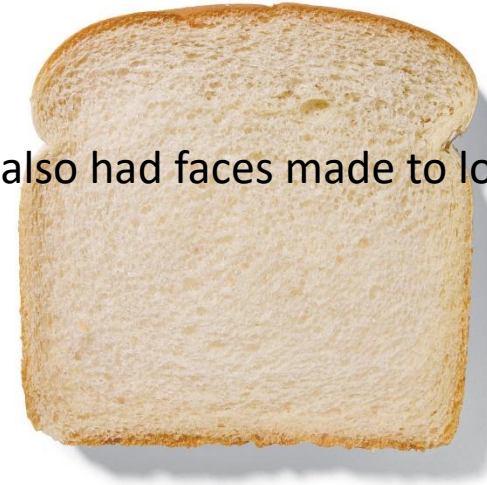

Many years ago toys were made of wood and fabric but now they are made of plastic.

The first teddy bears had hard bodies.

They also had faces made to look like real bears.

Get rid of the full stop and change the capital letter.

The first teddy bears had hard bodies and they also had faces made to look like real bears.

Decide which FANBOY conjunction should go between the two sentences, then copy the sentence out in full.

Victorian dolls had porcelain faces.

Porcelain breaks very easily.

Early teddies looked like real bears.

Modern teddies look much softer and friendlier.

Dolls' houses have tiny pieces of furniture.

You can pretend the house is like a real one.

Toys have been played with for thousands of years.

Toys are still popular today.