

Oliver

BIRGITTA SIF

Aladin

Watch the short video link on the virtual school "About the author".

Think about and write your own definition to explain the meaning of:

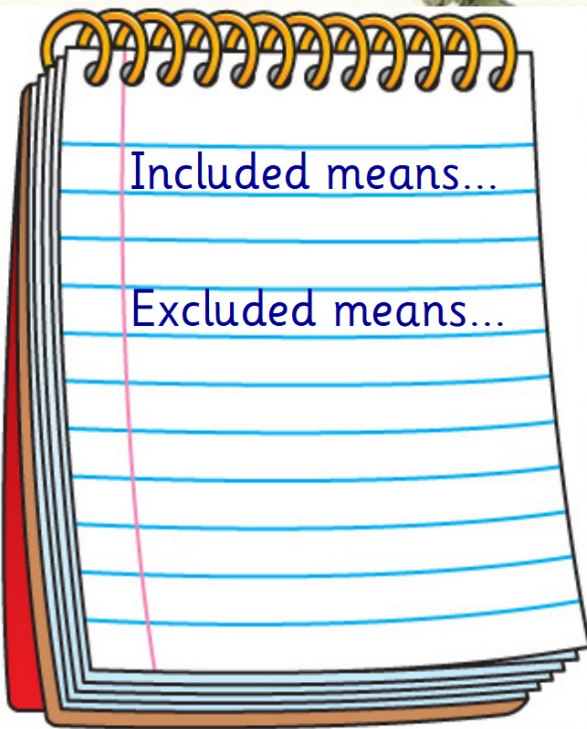

INCLUDED

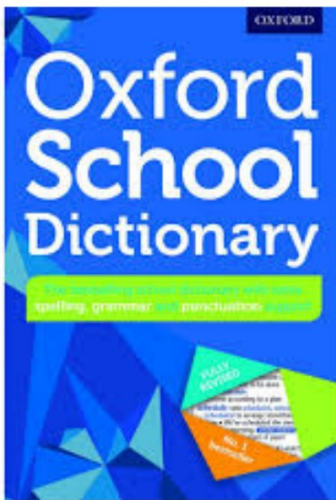

+

EXCLUDED

Included means...

Excluded means...

included

adjective [after noun]

UK  /In'klu:.dɪd/ US  /In'klu:.dɪd/

containing something as a part of something else, or making something part of something else:

- The trip cost a total of £250, insurance included.
- Everyone, me included, agreed to the plan.

exclude

verb [T]

UK  /ɪk'sklu:d/ US  /ɪk'sklu:d/

C1

to prevent someone or something from entering a place or taking part in an activity:

Were your interpretations of the words similar?

Let's read the story!

Watch the video of Miss Thornton reading the story on the virtual school.

Oliver

BIRGITTA SIF

Aladin

Who are Oliver's friends?

Was the ending happy?

Why are the words 'The End' crossed out?

Do you think Olivia is different too?

~~The End~~
The Beginning

Oliver was different/unique to others in the story but it didn't stop him finding friendship!

Every one is different. We all look different, like/dislike different things, play different games. But being different does not stop us from all being friends and respecting one another!

This was mine:

Write down two sentences about what makes you... you.

I am myself and that makes me unique because...

I am unique because I can touch my nose with my tongue!

Task: Draw yourself and somebody else that is in your house. Think of 3 ways in which you and that person are different to one another.

I am unique and so are you.
draw yourself	draw some one that you live with

We are all different in our class at school but, unlike Oliver, we make sure that there are no outsiders and no one is left out.

How do we do that?

If Oliver came to our school, what would you do or say to make him feel welcome?

You can write your ideas down or just think about them.

