

Tuesday

Use progressive verbs correctly

Use the correct tense in my writing

Yesterday we started to learn about Roman invading Britain.

This week we are going to be writing some diary entries from the points of view of different people who were involved in the invasions.

We are starting with...

Julius Ceasar!

Julius Caesar

Gaius Julius Caesar was a general in the Roman army who eventually became ruler of the Roman Empire. He was also a poet.

Although he lived nearly two thousand years ago, many of our sayings come from the life of Julius Caesar. Even our calendar is derived from the one he invented!

Julius Caesar was extremely influential.

He kept a diary and wrote a lot about his own life

He helped to turn Rome from a republic into an empire

He introduced the Julian calendar

He tried to invade Britain

Emperors like him became god-like figures

We are going to pretend that we are Julius Caesar and write a diary entry about our first attempt to invade Britain.

What happened?

Attempt 1

Julius Caesar – 55 BC

Caesar sent 20 000 soldiers on ships to the south coast of England. However, it was difficult to land because of the stormy weather and the British tribal warriors guarding the beaches.

The Romans retreated, realising that they had underestimated the ease of landing.

Today is the day! We are finally going to invade Britain!

How were you feeling this morning before invading?

What happened when you arrived at Britain?

How did you feel on the way back home?

What are you going to do
now? What's the plan?

Editing time!

make sense?

capital letters and full stops?

spellings?

correct tense?